PYTHIANS MEET IN CONVENTION

Pennesseewassee Lodge, K. of P., entertained the lodges in the Fifteenth District, Thursday evening, with an attendance of about 150

The ceremonies were held in Norway Grange Hall, which provided more space for the floor work of the third rank exemplified by the local team.

Lake Temple served a chicken pie supper at intermission.

Speaking occupied the hours following the supper. C. C. Robert C. Brown extended a welcome to the guests and the response was by D. D. G. C. Charles Brown. Congressman Donald B. Partridge, a member of Pennesseewassee Lodge spoke interestingly. The main speaker was Past Grand Chancellor Percy J. Reiver of Portland. Frank Haskell of Portland, representative from the grand lodge, spoke.

THE PERRYS HOME FROM WESTERN TRIP

Boiling hot one day and snow banks the next was one of the experiences of Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Perry during a thirty-day auto trip to western states.

They reached home Sunday night, after making the run from New Jersey that day. Both enjoyed the 6,000 mile ride to Colorado, Nebraska, Kansas, and in between states over improved highways that in places stretched away for fifty miles without a hill or a turn.

Going west, they went through New York state, stopped at Niagara Falls and motored without many stops to Merna, Nebraska, where they spent six days with Henry N. Brown and daughter, Mrs. Arthur Rourke, formerly Ida Brown. The Browns were residents of Norway at one time. Mrs. Rourke has thee children, the eldest is fourteen.

At Lincoln, Neb., they enjoyed a pleasant call with Silas H. Burnham, who inquired for many old timers who were young when he lived in Norway. They stopped with Mrs. Benjamin Eivens (Elsie Back) at Amherst, Nebraska. She has an interesting family of three children.

Taking the southern route through Tennessee and Kentucky, they followed Rt. 1, through Virginia, and home.

A visit to the Mammoth Cave was a revelation and roasting in a temperature of 110 on one day, then riding through six inches of snow within twenty-four hours even had Maine beaten. Motoring up Pike's Peak furnished thrills, so altogether the trip was one long to be remembered.

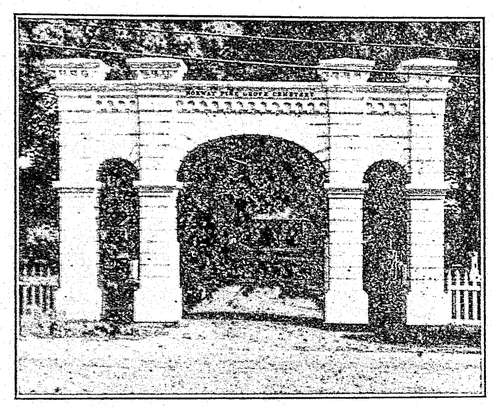
H. B. Foster and L. H. Cushman are at Cinnamon Camp for their annual fall hunting.

Norway Pine Grove Cemetery

First Purchase of Land in 1860—Shifting the Boundaries—Officers of the Association

Norway Pine Grove Cemetery, that beautiful parcel of land consecrated for a last resting place has a history worthy of record. Located on the southerly line of the cement state highway between Norway and South Paris, the well kept grounds partly covered with stately pines and spreading maples have been admired by tourists.

Why the name "Norway" should be applied to the grounds in South Paris, is due to a twist of fate. When two parcels containing about five and one-half acres were purchased in 1860, that section was a part of Norway. The line made a course from the Little Androscoggin river, northward along certain lot lines between the Main street schoolhouse and Hicks Crossing, to a corner on the Rumford road near the summit of Elm Hill. That set off from the town of Paris in 1859.



Entrance to Norway Pine Grove Cemetery

Thinking the matter settled for all time the parcels near the fair grounds were purchased from Ezra F. Beal, F. H. Whitman and John B. Brown, who conveyed the land to other incorporators who were A. C. Denison, Jesse Howe, Asa Danforth, Ceylon Watson, Thomas Holt, O. F. Mixer, J. H. Merrill, C. Hutchinson, Benjamin Tucker, Jeremiah Howe, H. C. Reed, Horatio G. Cole, I. A. Dennison, Moses Ames, Elliott Smith, Otis True, F. H. Danforth, E. W. Howe, A. S. Bartlett and T. G. Goodwin.

At that time Rustfield cemetery on Greenleaf Avenue was becoming crowded and all the lots were sold. Climbing Pikes Hill to reach the burial place there was not to the liking of the villagers, so that the new organization known as the Norway Pine Grove Cemetery Association cleared much of the land and surveyed lots and avenues.

In 1861 Paris and Norway were locked in a legal controversy over the boundary and that year the legislature re-annexed the parcels to Paris, placing the town line as known now. In that move Norway lost the cemetery and much bitterness arose. We have been told that the feeling entered into business, the churches, lodges and social activities and was kept alive in Norway for years. For a time the inhabitants remained apart except when necessity forced a show of friendly intercourse. Old chaps now living laugh over the pranks they played and the retaliation on both sides of the obnoxious line.

The lots sold rapidly and in 1867 a small parcel was purchased of J. B. Brown. This answered the purpose until 1878, when a strip between the cemetery and Oxford County fair grounds was secured of Jonathan Blake. The parcel covered with pine was known as the "hoss jockey grounds", where at every county fair old nags were traded and swapped, while their owners guzzled hard liquor. It is said the grove was the rendezvous for all the tough boiled jockies in three counties.

The question of getting water was answered in 1881 when right was acquired from Henry Gary and Charles G. Andrews to dig a cistern and maintain a windmill at a spring. The location was in a field, now the Alfonso Allen place on Gary street and aqueduct pipes brought the water nearly a quarter of a mile. The remains of this venture may be seen in the field and near the back path from Gary street to the court house. When the Norway Water Co.'s pipe went to South Paris this system was abandoned.

A receiving tomb was built in 1885 and located on the southerly side in the bank with walls and roof made with large granite slabs.

More land was acquired in 1900 when Joseph H. Linscott sold to the association a strip along the southeast corner. Sometime before he cut up a parcel into house lots and sold them to A. W. Walker, Chas. Knight and Samuel Benson. These were acquired by the directors in 1904 with an addition of a parcel from Silas Maxim and taken out of the large tract on the flat.

In 1915 the Peter Frost land and buildings adjoining this purchase and the cemetery was bought of Albert W. and Mary E. Thompson and became the extension of the original yard. The Frost premises, about half an acre with the buildings, were fenced in and rented several years until Arthur Herrick of Norway, who bought the house, removed it as lumber. The cellar was filled and well kept lots now cover the site.

Jonathan Whitehouse was one of the first sextons and held that office for twenty-five years. Chas. Crockett followed soon after, then Jesse Thomas was employed there as superintendent from 1911 to 1929, he was succeeded by Herbert F. Bradbury, the present supervisor.

The cemetery contains from fifteen to twenty acres and adjoining land will be acquired if negotiations are successful. Only a few lots remain unsold and something must be done in the near future to annex adjoining property or look for expansion on more distant property.

Early records of interments are lacking and the exact number may never be known, but according to estimates at least three thousand have found a resting place there. Not a few have been re-interred from family yards, tombs and burying grounds for inscriptions on headstones in the oldest part show dates much earlier than the opening of the cemetery in 1860.

Pine Grove Association is governed by a board of trustees, the members are Stephen B. Cummings, president; Dennis Pike, Philip F. Stone, Maford W. Mann and Clara L. Luck. L. Fred Pike is treasurer, Mrs. Elizabeth C. Sampson, clerk and secretary, H. F. Bradbury, superintendent of grounds.

Keeping up the lots is divided in three parts, perpetual care, yearly care and ordinary as provided by the association to keep the cemetery neat and attractive. There are flower beds with the avenues and lots carefully trimmed by four gardeners employed during summer. In fact everything is in keeping with the thought that the cemetery grounds are sacredly devoted to the burial of the dead and shall be kept so by a strict observance of rules and regulations.

CONCERT AND CARNIVAL

Big Time Coming

Co. C, 103rd Infantry of Norway will carry on with a band concert and carnival at Norway Opera House, Friday evening, Nov. 4. This will be the first annual and a merry time has been planned by the officers and enlisted men.

The 103rd Infantry Band of Lewiston will do their stuff and bring to town forty musicians for a parade, concert and the long dance program which features a high, wide and lively carnival.

Now this band is not the ordinary kind but one of Maine's best, and has won only complimentary notices wherever the organization has appeared. It made a hit at Camp Devens and last August at Camp Keyes, Augusta, their high grade concert work attracted the attention of critics and newswriters.

A dance team will be picked for the band and if jazz is wanted the musicians will provide it. First Lieut. Albert Thompson will be floor manager, aids, First Sergt. Francis Carroll, Sergt. Francis Haskell, Sergt. Lester Witham, Corp. Ira Smith, Corp. Rodney Verrill, Pvt. Wendall Ring.

Members of Co. C are selling tickets that are good for admission and dancing at one price. The response has been generous and a full house is expected, but always there is room for one more and every little green pastboard purchased will help both Co. C and the 103rd Regiment Band.

The army boys are taking hold of the event with military snap, so if enthusiasm counts the affair will go over big. Their appeal is this slogan, "Friends give us a boost".

INDOOR BASEBALL LEAGUE FORMED

Plans are well along for an Indoor Baseball League to include eight or more Knights of Pythias lodges. A team in each lodge will play fifty-six games between November and the middle of March on a schedule to be worked out when the make-up of the league is settled.

Lodges in the tentative list are South Paris, Mechanic Falls, West Minot, Lewiston, Auburn, Sabattus, Oxford and Norway. The promotors are open for more applications and a season of good sport is anticipated.

The matter will be more fully discussed after the meeting of Pennesseewassee Lodge this Thursday evening.

CHARLES B. ALLEN

After two years of failing health and one day of critical illness, Charles B. Allen, aged nearly 80, passed away at his home, October 20. Heart trouble was the direct cause.

He was born in Norway, December 13, 1852, the son of Elbridge G. and Louisa Dudley Allen, and except for a year in Massachusetts, he resided in the same spot where he was born.

After attending the Norway schools, he worked in the bakery and for a time was employed with his father, who was a blacksmith. He had been a shoe cutter for many years and was with B. F. Spinney & Co., and worked in the Jellerson-Rafter shop until about two years ago, when he retired on account of failing health. He was a Congregationalist and a member of Oxford Lodge F. & A. M.

Mr. Allen leaves one sister, Mrs. Sarah E. Cole, of Norway; one brother, William E. Allen, of Lynn, Mass., a niece, Mrs. Henry B. Foster of Norway, and a grand niece, Mrs. Laurestine Foster Knight of West Paris. His wife, who was Eva Lucas, passed away eight years ago.

The funeral at the home on Main St., was held Sunday at 2 p. m., attended by Rev. Christian Groezinger. Interment was at Norway Pine Grove cemetery, the bearers were H. F. Andrews, G. Julian Brown, Dennis Pike, and Walter S. Stearns.

Norway Woman's Club

Marionettes at High School Gymnasium

The Norway Woman's Club wil entertain the school children and teachers of the town at the high school gymnasium, Tuesday afternoon, November 1, when Paul Clemens and his marionettes will present "Robin Hood."

The primary schools are asked to be at the gymnasium at 1:35 and the three grades and rural schools at 1:40, so there will be no confusion. The second entertainment will commence at 3:30 and the 5th and 6th grades, the Junior high school and members of the Woman's Club will attend. Supt. W. H. Edminster has given permission to close the schools in time for the entertainment. Mr. Clemens entertained the scholars a few weeks ago in "Treasure Island" and "Merchant of Venice" and delighted the boys and girls, as well as the older people who attended, so there is much anticipation for this program.

RARE ANIMALS RAISED IN NORWAY

Black raccoons have been added to the fur farm of John J. Acorn, 11 Tucker Street, at the Hebbard place. One male and two females were purchased in New Hampshire, being among a few in New England that came from a single pair.

We are told that L. S. Russell of Cardington, Ohio, captured a male and a female with jet black fur. They were freaks of nature and for some unexplained cause the type has not changed to the gray shade common in the breed. Mr. Acorn states that not until the supply of animals is sufficient, will much genuine black raccoon fur be on the market. For the present, only breeders will be available.

Mink also are raised on the farm, but they require more attention and destroy their young, if not watched carefully. A pair from Prince Edward Island and a native make up the breeding stock.

The Misses Clara Adkins, Geraldine Paragard and Carolyn Downing went to Boston, Friday, to attend the Harvard-Dartmouth football game, and returned home, Sunday.

Oxford County Farm Bureau

Annual Meeting Held at Norway, Friday

Leslie E. McIntire of East Waterford was elected president of Oxford County Farm Bureau at the twelfth annual meeting, Friday. One of the largest gathering of members in its history attended and packed Norway Grange Hall to the doors.

The meeting opened in the forenoon at Rex Theatre, where a number of moving pictures relative to farming, dairying and orcharding were shown. After the screen demonstration, Pres. B. M. Sanderson of Waterford gave a brief address of welcome, then Mrs. Rose L. Swan of South Paris read the report of the last annual meeting. Extension work was reported and the nomination committee made its announcement. A demonstration of salad making was given by the Entre Nous 4-H Club of Buckfield.

Dinner was served by Norway Grange and one hundred and eighty tickets were sold.

The afternoon session opened in the Grange Hall at 1 o'clock with selections by South Paris high school orchestra and a male quartet from the South Paris Singing Club.

Maurice D. Jones in the College of Agriculture, U. of M., was the main speaker and gave a comprehensive outline of marketing and the problems in transporting farm products for a fair return on the investment. He believed prices will never reach the high peak of 1920, but they will in time be far ahead of the present low market. His slogan was "keep on, keep on, better times are coming".

George E. Lord, County Agent leader, explained the movement honoring outstanding farmers and homemakers.

The Extension program of work for 1933 for the Oxford County Farm Bureau and the Extension Service cooperating is as follows: Agricultural economics, farm accounts, poultry accounts; crops, improved potato seed plots; lime campaign; dairy, quality milk, safety bull pens; planting; orchard, apple fruit fly campaign; apple tree planting; apple tree pruning; orchard spray service; poultry accredited flocks; pedigree breeding; increase income with poultry; home economics, clothing; dressing children; posture and grooming wardrobe for the high school girl; Foods, child feeding; vegetables for health; know your groceries; square meals for health; home management, home organization; kitchen improvement; home accounts; 4-H club work, boys' and girls' clubs.

A report of the membership placed South Paris in the lead. At roll call by county agent D. H. Ridley, of the local branches, Norway had the largest attendance, Waterford, second; Buckfield, third, and South Paris fourth.

In the square meal for health exhibit, Norway won first place and $5 in money. A demonstration in "Arrangement of Winter Bouquets" by Mildred Lapham and Lyle Martin. Pine twigs and the Japanese Lanterns from the flower garden were used.

The naminating committee comprising Harry B. McKeen, Lovell; Cleora Adams, Canton; Geraldine Elrich, Rumford, and Eva Hastings, Bethel, submitted a list of candidates who were elected as follows:

NEW HAMPSHIRE COUPLE HELD FOR GRAND JURY

Morris Andrews and Alice Wedge, alias Alice Fournier, both of Berlin, N. H., charged with breaking, entering and larceny, were brought before Judge Harry M. Shaw in Norway Municipal Court, Friday. They were in custody of Sheriff W. O. Frothingham, who brought the couple from Berlin, where they had been arrested by the Berlin police.

Both respondents pleaded not guilty. Probable cause was found and bail fixed at $1,000 each, for their appearance at the November term of Superior Court. Unable to furnish the bonds, they were committed to the County jail.

The hearing was a result of finding a large amount of household goods stolen from the O. B. Brown place at Gilead, while the caretakers were awa. The furniture was insured and the company notified Sheriff George Colbath of Berlin, who located practically all the goods at a farm on the West Milan road. There they found Andrews and Alice Wedge, who claimed to be his housekeeper.

Saturday, Oct. 22, eight girls were sent to the annual Bates Play Day, an occasion for furthering sportsmanship and increasing spirit for play's sake, not for the pure desire for victory. Tuesday night after school, the girls' Archery Club held the annual fall tournament. Results were as follows: highest score, Millie Morse, 52; second place, Constance Young, 35; third place, Frances Blaquiere, 33; fourth place, Virginia Frost, 28; fifth place, Esther French, 24. Last Friday afternoon the Senior French Club held the second of its monthly meetings with Miss Arlene Hunt in charge. A delightful program on the poet, novelist and playwriter, Victor Hugo, was prepared by Miss Hunt, each member of the class participating in some number on the program. Attractive programs were presented each member of the class; monologues, poems and a short playlet from the world famous "Les Miserables" constituted the entertainment, followed by French games and refreshments. It was a very interesting and successful meeting.

The Future Farmers' Club meeting held last Thursday was a great success, the committee work being hard. The club exends its thanks to Mrs. Edward H. Brown, who took charge in the kitchen. There were about fourteen boys present. The orchestra played before the meeting. The meeting this week was held Wednesday morning. The plan for the year's work was submitted and accepted. A meeting will be held on Nov. 2 to initiate three Greenhands in as Future Farmers, and a meeting, Nov. 9, to take the freshmen boys in as Greenhands. Plans were made for a second attempt at a hunting trip, hoping to get something bigger than a rabbit. We will go sometime the last of November.

Sample ballots for the election of officers on November 10 have been sent to the members. Robert B. Dow entered this week on his duties as secretary.

The parade of Oxford high school, Friday afternoon added a bit color and activity on Main street. A drum and bugle corps led the procession, including modern and ancient costumes and abundance of grease paint for the grotesque characters represented. This was a ballyhoo for a circus and fair given at Oxford in the evening. Practically every student appeared in the parade.

Norway Churches

Methodist

The Sunday services were both well attended last Sabbath, Oct. 23. The morning choir music was especially pleasing with the additional mixed quartette. The pastor brought a message pertaining to the "hearing and seeing" of those things understood by the Disciples of Jesus and likened our opportunities in the present day of "hearing and seeing". In the evening there was splendid congregational singing and another story in the "Sign of the Cross" by the minister. The junior choir were in their places in the rostrum and Arthur Morgan was again the cornet soloist rendering sweet trumpet strains accompanied by Miss Yates at the organ. Next Sabbath day the services begin at the usual hours, 10:45 and 7:30. In the forenoon the pastor will bring a helpful, inspirational theme of Biblical deduction and in the evening time the concluding chapter of "The Sign of the Cross" will be revealed. There will be gospel singing and a special number by the younger members of the white robed choir singers.

The ladies of the church society met Tuesday at the home of Mrs. D. L. Joslin for special important matters of business. A good attendance was the evidence observed.

PYTHIANS MEET IN CONVENTION

Pennesseewassee Lodge, K. of P., entertained the lodges in the Fifteenth District, Thursday evening, with an attendance of about 150

The ceremonies were held in Norway Grange Hall, which provided more space for the floor work of the third rank exemplified by the local team.

Lake Temple served a chicken pie supper at intermission.

Speaking occupied the hours following the supper. C. C. Robert C. Brown extended a welcome to the guests and the response was by D. D. G. C. Charles Brown. Congressman Donald B. Partridge, a member of Pennesseewassee Lodge spoke interestingly. The main speaker was Past Grand Chancellor Percy J. Belyea of Portland. Frank Haskell of Portland, representative from the grand lodge, spoke.

THE PERRYS HOME FROM WESTERN TRIP

Boiling hot one day and snow banks the next was one of the experiences of Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Perry during a thirty-day auto trip to western states.

They reached home Sunday night, after making the run from New Jersey that day. Both enjoyed the 6,000 mile ride to Colorado, Nebraska, Kansas, and in between states over improved highways that in places stretched away for fifty miles without a hill or a turn.

Going west, they went through New York state, stopped at Niagara Falls and motored without many stops to Merna, Nebraska, where they spent six days with Henry N. Brown and daughter, Mrs. Arthur Rourke, formerly Ida Brown. The Browns were residents of Norway at one time. Mrs. Rourke has thee children, the eldest is fourteen.

At Lincoln, Neb., they enjoyed a pleasant call with Silas H. Burnham, who inquired for many old timers who were young when he lived in Norway. They stopped with Mrs. Benjamin Eivens (Elsie Buck) at Amherst, Nebraska. She has an interesting family of three children.

Taking the southern route through Tennessee and Kentucky, they followed Rt. 1, through Virginia, and home.

A visit to the Mammoth Cave was a revelation and roasting in a temperature of 110 on one day, then riding through six inches of snow within twenty-four hours even had Maine beaten. Motoring up Pike's Peak furnished thrills, so altogether the trip was one long to be remembered.

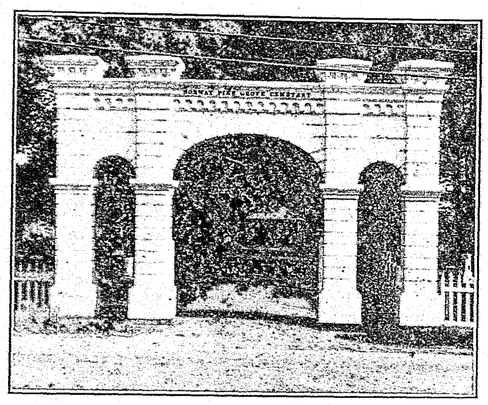
H. B. Foster and L. H. Cushman are at Cinnamon Camp for their annual fall hunting.

Norway Pine Grove Cemetery

First Purchase of Land in 1860—Shifting the Boundaries—Officers of the Association

Norway Pine Grove Cemetery, that beautiful parcel of land consecrated for a last resting place has a history worthy of record. Located on the southerly line of the cement state highway between Norway and South Paris, the well kept grounds partly covered with stately pines and spreading maples have been admired by tourists.

Why the name "Norway" should be applied to the grounds in South Paris, is due to a twist of fate. When two parcels containing about five and one-half acres were purchased in 1860, that section was a part of Norway. The line made a course from the Little Androscoggin river, northward along certain lot lines between the Main street schoolhouse and Hicks Crossing, to a corner on the Rumford road near the summit of Elm Hill. That set off from the town of Paris in 1859.



Entrance to Norway Pine Grove Cemetery

Thinking the matter settled for all time the parcels near the fair grounds were purchased from Ezra F. Beal, F. H. Whitman and John B. Brown, who conveyed the land to other incorporators who were A. C. Denison, Jesse Howe, Asa Danforth, Ceylon Watson, Thomas Holt, O. F. Mixer, J. H. Merrill, C. Hutchinson, Benjamin Tucker, Jeremiah Howe, H. C. Reed, Horatio G. Cole, I. A. Dennison, Moses Ames, Elliott Smith, Otis True, F. H. Danforth, E. W. Howe, A. S. Bartlett and T. G. Goodwin.

At that time Rustfield cemetery on Greenleaf Avenue was becoming crowded and all the lots were sold. Climbing Pikes Hill to reach the burial place there was not to the liking of the villagers, so that the new organization known as the Norway Pine Grove Cemetery Association cleared much of the land and surveyed lots and avenues.

In 1861 Paris and Norway were locked in a legal controversy over the boundary and that year the legislature re-annexed the parcels to Paris, placing the town line as known now. In that move Norway lost the cemetery and much bitterness arose. We have been told that the feeling entered into business, the churches, lodges and social activities and was kept alive in Norway for years. For a time the inhabitants remained apart except when necessity forced a show of friendly intercourse. Old chaps now living laugh over the pranks they played and the retaliation on both sides of the obnoxious line.

The lots sold rapidly and in 1867 a small parcel was purchased of J. B. Brown. This answered the purpose until 1878, when a strip between the cemetery and Oxford County fair grounds was secured of Jonathan Blake. The parcel covered with pine was known as the "hoss jockey grounds", where at every county fair old nags were traded and swapped, while their owners guzzled hard liquor. It is said the grove was the rendezvous for all the tough boiled jockies in three counties.

The question of getting water was answered in 1881 when right was acquired from Henry Gary and Charles G. Andrews to dig a cistern and maintain a windmill at a spring. The location was in a field, now the Alfonso Allen place on Gary street and aqueduct pipes brought the water nearly a quarter of a mile. The remains of this venture may be seen in the field and near the back path from Gary street to the court house. When the Norway Water Co.'s pipe went to South Paris this system was abandoned.

A receiving tomb was built in 1885 and located on the southerly side in the bank with walls and roof made with large granite slabs.

More land was acquired in 1900 when Joseph H. Linscott sold to the association a strip along the southeast corner. Sometime before he cut up a parcel into house lots and sold them to A. W. Walker, Chas. Knight and Samuel Benson. These were acquired by the directors in 1904 with an addition of a parcel from Silas Maxim and taken out of the large tract on the flat.

In 1915 the Peter Frost land and buildings adjoining this purchase and the cemetery was bought of Albert W. and Mary E. Thompson and became the extension of the original yard. The Frost premises, about half an acre with the buildings, were fenced in and rented several years until Arthur Herrick of Norway, who bought the house, removed it as lumber. The cellar was filled and well kept lots now cover the site.

Jonathan Whitehouse was one of the first sextons and held that office for twenty-five years. Chas. Crockett followed soon after, then Jesse Thomas was employed there as superintendent from 1911 to 1929, he was succeeded by Herbert F. Bradbury, the present supervisor.

The cemetery contains from fifteen to twenty acres and adjoining land will be acquired if negotiations are successful. Only a few lots remain unsold and something must be done in the near future to annex adjoining property or look for expansion on more distant property.

Early records of interments are lacking and the exact number may never be known, but according to estimates at least three thousand have found a resting place there. Not a few have been re-interred from family yards, tombs and burying grounds for inscriptions on headstones in the oldest part show dates much earlier than the opening of the cemetery in 1860.

Pine Grove Association is governed by a board of trustees, the members are Stephen B. Cummings, president; Dennis Pike, Philip F. Stone, Maford W. Mann and Clara L. Luck. L. Fred Pike is treasurer, Mrs. Elizabeth C. Sampson, clerk and secretary, H. F. Bradbury, superintendent of grounds.

Keeping up the lots is divided in three parts, perpetual care, yearly care and ordinary as provided by the association to keep the cemetery neat and attractive. There are flower beds with the avenues and lots carefully trimmed by four gardeners employed during summer. In fact everything is in keeping with the thought that the cemetery grounds are sacredly devoted to the burial of the dead and shall be kept so by a strict observance of rules and regulations.

CONCERT AND CARNIVAL

Big Time Coming

Co. C, 103rd Infantry of Norway will carry on with a band concert and carnival at Norway Opera House, Friday evening, Nov. 4. This will be the first annual and a merry time has been planned by the officers and enlisted men.

The 103rd Infantry Band of Lewiston will do their stuff and bring to town forty musicians for a parade, concert and the long dance program which features a high, wide and lively carnival.

Now this band is not the ordinary kind but one of Maine's best, and has won only complimentary notices wherever the organization has appeared. It made a hit at Camp Devens and last August at Camp Keyes, Augusta, their high grade concert work attracted the attention of critics and newswriters.

A dance team will be picked for the band and if jazz is wanted the musicians will provide it. First Lieut. Albert Thompson will be floor manager, aids, First Sergt. Francis Carroll, Sergt. Francis Haskell, Sergt. Lester Witham, Corp. Ira Smith, Corp. Rodney Verrill, Pvt. Wendall King.

Members of Co. C are selling tickets that are good for admission and dancing at one price. The response has been generous and a full house is expected, but always there is room for one more and every little green pastboard purchased will help both Co. C and the 103rd Regiment Band.

The army boys are taking hold of the event with military snap, so if enthusiasm counts the affair will go over big. Their appeal is this slogan, "Friends give us a boost".

INDOOR BASEBALL LEAGUE FORMED

Plans are well along for an Indoor Baseball League to include eight or more Knights of Pythias lodges. A team in each lodge will play fifty-six games between November and the middle of March on a schedule to be worked out when the make-up of the league is settled.

Lodges in the tentative list are South Paris, Mechanic Falls, West Minot, Lewiston, Auburn, Sabattus, Oxford and Norway. The promotors are open for more applications and a season of good sport is anticipated.

The matter will be more fully discussed after the meeting of Pennesseewassee Lodge this Thursday evening.

CHARLES B. ALLEN

After two years of failing health and one day of critical illness, Charles B. Allen, aged nearly 80, passed away at his home, October 20. Heart trouble was the direct cause.

He was born in Norway, December 13, 1852, the son of Elbridge G. and Louisa Dudley Allen, and except for a year in Massachusetts, he resided in the same spot where he was born.

After attending the Norway schools, he worked in the bakery and for a time was employed with his father, who was a blacksmith. He had been a shoe cutter for many years and was with B. F. Spinney & Co., and worked in the Jellerson-Rafter shop until about two years ago, when he retired on account of failing health. He was a Congregationalist and a member of Oxford Lodge F. & A. M.

Mr. Allen leaves one sister, Mrs. Sarah E. Cole, of Norway; one brother, William E. Allen, of Lynn, Mass., a niece, Mrs. Henry B. Foster of Norway, and a grand niece, Mrs. Laurestine Foster Knight of West Paris. His wife, who was Eva Lucas, passed away eight years ago.

The funeral at the home on Main St., was held Sunday at 2 p. m., attended by Rev. Christian Groezinger. Interment was at Norway Pine Grove cemetery, the bearers were H. F. Andrews, G. Julian Brown, Dennis Pike, and Walter S. Stearns.

Norway Woman's Club

Marionettes at High School Gymnasium

The Norway Woman's Club wil entertain the school children and teachers of the town at the high school gymnasium, Tuesday afternoon, November 1, when Paul Clemens and his marionettes will present "Robin Hood."

The primary schools, 2nd, 3rd and 4th grades, and all the rural schools will attend the first entertainment which commences at 1:45 o'clock. The primary schools are asked to be at the gymnasium at 1:35 and the three grades and rural schools at 1:40, so there will be no confusion. The second entertainment will commence at 3:30 and the 5th and 6th grades, the Junior high school and members of the Woman's Club will attend. Supt. W. H. Edminster has given permission to close the schools in time for the entertainment. Mr. Clemens entertained the scholars a few weeks ago in "Treasure Island" and "Merchant of Venice" and delighted the boys and girls, as well as the older people who attended, so there is much anticipation for this program.

RARE ANIMALS RAISED IN NORWAY

Black raccoons have been added to the fur farm of John J. Acorn, 11 Tucker Street, at the Hebbard place. One male and two females were purchased in New Hampshire, being among a few in New England that came from a single pair.

We are told that L. S. Russell of Carlington, Ohio, captured a male and a female with jet black fur. They were freaks of nature and for some unexplained cause the type has not changed to the gray shade common in the breed. Mr. Acorn states that not until the supply of animals is sufficient, will much genuine black raccoon fur be on the market. For the present, only breeders will be available.

Mink also are raised on the farm, but they require more attention and destroy their young, if not watched carefully. A pair from Prince Edward Island and a native make up the breeding stock.

The Misses Clara Adkins, Geraldine Paragard and Carolyn Downing went to Boston, Friday, to attend the Harvard-Dartmouth football game, and returned home, Sunday.

Oxford County Farm Bureau

Annual Meeting Held at Norway, Friday

Leslie E. McIntire of East Waterford was elected president of Oxford County Farm Bureau at the twelfth annual meeting, Friday. One of the largest gathering of members in its history attended and packed Norway Grange Hall to the doors.

The meeting opened in the forenoon at Rex Theatre, where a number of moving pictures relative to farming, dairying and orcharding were shown. After the screen demonstration, Pres. B. M. Sanderson of Waterford gave a brief address of welcome, then Mrs. Rose L. Swan of South Paris read the report of the last annual meeting. Extension work was reported and the nomination committee made its announcement. A demonstration of salad making was given by the Entre Nous 4-H Club of Buckfield.

Dinner was served by Norway Grange and one hundred and eighty tickets were sold.

The afternoon session opened in the Grange Hall at 1 o'clock with selections by South Paris high school orchestra and a male quartet from the South Paris Singing Club.

Maurice D. Jones in the College of Agriculture, U. of M., was the main speaker and gave a comprehensive outline of marketing and the problems in transporting farm products for a fair return on the investment. He believed prices will never reach the high peak of 1920, but they will in time be far ahead of the present low market. His slogan was "keep on, keep on, better times are coming".

Both respondents pleaded not guilty. Probable cause was found and bail fixed at $1,000 each, for their appearance at the November term of Superior Court. Unable to furnish the bonds, they were committed to the County jail.

The hearing was a result of finding a large amount of household goods stolen from the O. B. Brown place at Gilead, while the caretakers were awa. The furniture was insured and the company notified Sheriff George Colbath of Berlin, who located practically all the goods at a farm on the West Milan road. There they found Andrews and Alice Wedge, who claimed to be his housekeeper.

THE HUMBLE BEAN IN FULL DRESS

By Betty Barclay

Beans are such an important item in the diet that many women have come to think of them in terms of bread, potatoes, bacon and eggs. In other words the bean is something that is to be served regularly, but after all it is a rather plain unattractive dish in spite of its deliciousness and healthful qualities.

No greater injustice has ever been done the healthful bean that to intimate that a bean dish must be a plain dish. Beans, when baked, may be served in some of the most attractive forms imaginable.

Before describing two or three of these, however, may I suggest that you always assure yourself that the baked beans you serve are really baked. This is by no means a silly suggestion, for most of the purchased beans that people call "baked" beans are really not baked at all—they are merely steamed or boiled.

The wise housewife who wants baked beans will read the labels on the cans she purchases. Unless she finds the word "baked" she may rest assured that the beans are not baked. She may also be sure that there is just as much difference between steamed or boiled beans and baked beans as there is between a boiled potato and a flaky baked potato.

When you have secured real baked beans take your cans home and try out the following recipes. When you place these foods upon the table your guests and the members of your family will hardly recognize the humble little bean in its full dress clothes.

Baked Bean and Egg Salad

1 medium can oven-baked beans (Boston style)
3 hard cooked eggs
6 preserved sweet gherkins, chopped
1 small onion, chopped
1-2 teaspoonful salt
Mayonnaise salad dressing
Lettuce

Place oven-baked beans in a sieve and wash with boiling water and cool. Add chopped egg whites, gherkins, onion and salt. Moisten with mayonnaise and serve in crisp lettuce cups. Garnish with mayonnaise and egg yolks pressed through a sieve. Serve very cold. Serves four.

Bermuda Onions Stuffed with Beans

6 large Bermuda onions
3 tablespoonfuls butter
1 medium can oven-baked beans (vegetarian style)
1-2 cup dry bread crumbs
1-4 cupful tomato ketchup
1 teaspoonful salt
1-4 teaspoonful pepper

Peel the onions carefully, scoop out centers, leaving hollow cup with opening at the top about as big as a fifty-cent piece. Chop one-half cupful of the onion removed from centers and let simmer in butter ten minutes. Remove from fire and combine with oven-baked beans, ketchup, seasonings and bread crumbs. Fill onions with prepared mixture. Place in a deep, covered baking dish with little water. Bake in moderate oven (375° F.) one and one-half hours or until onions are tender. Serves six.

Corned Beef Supper Snacks

1 small can corned beef
1 small can oven-baked beans (vegetarian style)
1 tablespoonful onion, minced
1-2 cupful chow chow pickle, chopped finely
1 tablespoonful mustard sauce, from pickle

Chill corned beef in can several hours, then cut in thin slices. Mash oven-baked beans and combine with pickle and mustard sauce. Spread baked bean mixture between slices of corned beef. Arrange on a platter and garnish with parsley.

There was Wendall and Ada and children three started out ahead as happy as could be, then in drove Charles, Eva and Thel, they took Enfield and Orpha, and drove pretty well. We arrived at Pere Grover's a little after ten. There were seven young ladies and seven young men, Howard Grover and wife, Emma came up from the city; if they didn't enjoy it I think it a pity.

The boys pitched horse shoes, but not very long for the smell of roast chickens was most too strong. Some leaned on the cars, some stood in the stable, but they didn't get very far from the table. Nettie had a table ten feet or more and another small one stood by the door, then we all sat down and commenced to eat. They had three big roast chickens, now wan't that a treat, two big rabbits fried up brown and a big chicken pie, the pie of renown, spuds and onions, rolls and cake, cranberry sauce and pickles, such as Nettie can make, jello, too, with sugar and cream and a big birthday cake that would make you scream, all decorated in letters green, 'Twas fit for a damsel of sweet sixteen.

We all ate and ate, as long as we were able and then we slowly pushed back from the work. We were all pretty logy, but hated to shirk. The boys went up to help find the lost pig, home again, home again without any pig.

We struck for home about 4 o'clock to look after the dogs and the horses and "bate", you know how it is, we just ate, ate and ate. (I had to make it rhyme.)

BRIDGTON HIGHLANDS

The hunters are busy in this section and th reports of rifles and the barking of dogs enliven our nights. One party secured four fat coons.

The foxes are doing much damage on the Upper Ridge. Arthur and Addison Flint have lost several fine hens. Charlie Abbott, our crack fox shot, should go up there.

Mrs. Harry Leavitt, Mabel Robinson Byron and Lester Whitehouse spent Sunday afternoon with their aunt, Mrs. E. K. Shedd, of North Waterford.

Dr. George Abbott of Newton, Mass., spent the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Abbott, of Tarry-a-while.

Elmer Abbott, who has been suffering from a severely sprained ankle, was able to walk up on the Ridge and call upon the Charles Wiggins one day last week.

Mrs. Elizabeth Ingalls and Mrs. Harry Brigham attended the convention of the Pythian Sisterhood at Fryeburg last week.

Pamelia Wiggins was down from West Newton last week and returned there.

Miss Blanche Morrison has been suffering from a severe cold, but is now improving.

The men of the Ridge Circle are to serve an oyster supper at Walker Memorial Hall with Arthur Flint as chairman. This is supposed to be the chef d'ouvre of the season and its success is already assured with Arthur as chairman.

FEDERATION OF BAND MUSICIANS SUGGESTED

Invitations extended by musicians at Bridgton, for a get-together of bandmen, brought a response from sixty-two men at the gym, Bridgton Center, Monday evening, October 24.

The program consisted of several popular marches and overtures played with an enthusiasm and spirit which was both enjoyable and inspiring, not only to the audience, composed of friends and families of the musicians, but to the musicians themselves.

The band consisted of representatives from Harrison, Bridgton, Denmark, Brownfield, Lovell, Norway, Paris, Fryeburg, Conway, N. H., and Bartlett, N. H. It has been suggested that a federation of band musicians be formed in western Maine and the possible magnitude of such an organization may be realized, when on short notice sixty-two men gather, composing an instrumentation of sixteen trumpets, seven trombones, nine altoes, three baritones, five clarinets, five saxaphones, seven bass horns, four snare drummers, three base drummers, one flute, two piccoloes.

During intermission, called about 9 o'clock, a buffet lunch was served by the wives and friends of the Bridgton musicians after, which the rehearsal was resumed.

The several numbers were conducted by Mr. Sanborn of the Bridgton American Legion Band; Walter S. Stearns of the Norway-Paris Band, and Frank Cash of Bridgton, respectively.

NOTES FROM COUNTY WORK

D. H. Ridley, County Agent; Gilberta P. Watt, Ada Brewster, Home Demonstration

Community exhibits were a new feature at the Farm Bureau Annual Meeting in Norway, last Friday. Each community having a women's Farm Bureau was asked to exhibit something they had done during the year.

Displays—Christmas Suggestions.
Dixfield—Madeover Dresses.
Paris—Leather Work.
Mexico—Wool Weaving.
Bethel—Basketry.
South Paris—Basketry.
Roxbury—Winter Bouquets.
Norway—Square Meals.
Rumford—Square Meals.
North Paris—Quilt Craft.
Canton—Basketry.
Waterford—Stenciling.
Peru—Quilt Craft.
East Bethel—Vegetables for Health.
North Rumford—Canning.
Middle Intervale—Garments made from flour sacks.

A special exhibit which aroused interest was some lovely, hand woven rugs, made from hand spun yarn. Miss Christine Seaton of Bethel made them. She is an active member of the Middle Intervale Farm Bureau.

Kitchen Meeting

There is no such thing as unemployment among housewives. In fact, Oxford County women have never done so much canning as this year. To help relieve the depression which comes from too much work, a kitchen improvement meeting will be held on Wednesday, November 2nd, at 7:30 p. m. in the Bethel Grange Hall.

Men, women, children, Farm Bureau members and non-members are welcome. The meeting is sponsored by the Extension Service and everyone in the county is invited. Women, be sure to bring your husbands, fathers and brothers. Men, bring your wives and sweethearts. Maybe it is man power, not money, which is needed to do away with the backache caused by working at a sink which is too low.

Speakers: Miss Edna Cobb, State Home Management Specialist; Gleason Turner, Agricultural Engineer; Don Ridley, County Agent. Miss Ada Brewster, new Home Demonstration Agent, will officially open the Kitchen Improvement contest. The date is November 2 and the place, Bethel Grange Hall.

Forestry Work Progresses

Farm Woodlots keep right on growing in spite of the depression, and most of them can profitably use all of the time the owner has available. Weeding, thinning, selective cutting and planting—all have a definite place in the proper management of a woodlot. This week, six additional woodlot demonstration plots will be added to the seventeen now underway. Forestry specialist, Albert D. Nutting, will accompany the county agent in this work and will hold

CUT OUR FIRE BILL

"Let's give the dragon a vacation." That was a suggestion offered by a magazine published by the National Safety Council, in writing on Fire Prevention Week just passed. Let's hope it was well heeded. Now every citizen should do his best to see that the fire department continues on "vacation" during the balance of the year as well.

Last year we—you and I and Bill Jones, the neighbor—paid a fire bill of almost half a billion dollars. We've paid about the same bill for more years than one cares to count. For the most part, we refer to the fire loss as the "nation's loss"—as if it were a more or less remote matter, affecting other pocketbooks than ours.

Most of us, of course, suffered no fire during the year. But we contributed our share of the bill just the same. We paid it in higher insurance premiums than would otherwise have been necessary, in loss of business, in destroyed jobs, in ruined industries, in increased taxes, in lapses in community development. Every fire, whether it touches a two-hundred-dollar garage or a two-billion-dollar industry, damages us all. None can escape it.

Fire Prevention Week was a good time to start a real campaign against fire that will achieve results. Let's do our best to cut our share of the fire bill to conform to the rest of the cuts in the family budget.

WILSON'S MILLS

The remains of Mrs. Josephine (Bennett) Littlehale, who passed away in Auburn, Oct. 8th, were brought here Tuesday for burial. Mrs. Littlehale was born at Magalloway Plantation, July 12th, 1851, and made her home in this vicinity for many years. She was united in marriage with Andrew N. Littlehale, who passed away several years ago. After the death of Mr. Littlehale, she moved to Auburn, where she made her home with her daughter, Mrs. Lillian Brooks. Funeral services were conducted at the Wilson's Mills church, Tuesday afternoon, Rev. Babcock of the Court St., Baptist church, Auburn, officiating. The bearers were six grandsons, Faune, Werner, Lester, Gerald, Clifton and Carl Littlehale. There were many beautiful floral tributes. Mrs. Littlehale leaves three sons Peter and Lawrence of Wilson's Mills and Arthur of Magalloway Plantation, two daughters, Mrs. Walter Bucknam of Avon, Mass., and Mrs. Lillian Brooks of Auburn, ten grandchildren and eleven great grandchildren, three brothers, Edgar, Henry and Brewster Bennett, also many nephews, nieces and friends by whom she will be greatly missed.

Thrill of Leadership

An indescribable satisfaction comes to many men and women leading local 4-H Clubs. We call it thrill for lack of a better word. Recently we talked with five such leaders. Their work with club members, they said, was the greatest thing in their lives. They were nearing middle life; had reached a place where most men and women are inclined to start and let up. Life was beginning to lose some of its zest. Making money was not all. Their children were slipping away. Soon Dad and Mother would be "old folks." Every parent knows all this.

Then club work comes along, and with it the need of a local leader. The chance is offered these "old folks" and many others, too, to get in step with youth. Maybe they doubt their ability, of the value of club work, or wonder if they can spare the time. Some grasp the chance, though often waveringly. But once caught in the current of enthusiasm which club leadership generates, their doubts soon fade away. Once more comes the joy of working close with youth. The leader begins to look forward, no longer backward. Life has a new zest.

A father who was a club leader said with a happy laugh, "Yes, sir, we are in club work three times a day at our house. The boys and I are building up a herd of purebred Jerseys." He was starting life all over again, and when many are hopeless!

A mother and club leader said with emotion: "I had never hoped to see my little girl conquer a serious defect. But health work in our club fired her to overcome it. She determined to be a health winner. Day by day I saw her struggle. It was wonderful. She has all but won our county contest. She will before she quits."

What wouldn't any earnest man or woman give for such experience?

He has been tenderly cared for by his daughter, Mrs. Carl C. Dudley, and her husband and a grandson, Perley Dudley, also by other members of the family, who did all they could to help.

Mr. Farnum was one of the best known old-time Oxford County residents and died October 22, within a week of the day he would have observed his eighty-first birthday. Mr. Farnum was born in Rumford, November 1, 1851, was son of Honorable James Harvey (and Clarissa Hoyt) Farnum. His education begun at Rumford, was finished at Kent's Hill and later followed service in the United States navy. In school days, Mr. Farnum was a keen participator in all sports and won fame as catcher for the "Old Oxfords," a local baseball nine in the days when Portland and this section vied with each other for possession of the "silver ball," a coveted trophy in the days of big scores.

He married Emogene Clark Day, whom he survived ten years. Six of the seven children survive him. There are also surviving, eleven grandchildren and six great grandchildren.

Mr. Farnum was a farmer and a woodworker. After the death of his eldest son, Charles H., and his daughter-in-law, a tragedy of influenza days, Mr. Farnum brought up the three orphaned grandchildren and in turn Mrs. Abby Dudley, his daughter, has cared for the aged man in the eight yeas of suffering which followed a paralytic shock.

He is survived by four sons, James, Fred, and Hugh, of Bryant Pond, and Webster, of Massachusetts. Two daughters, Mrs. Carl Dudley of Bryant Pond and Mrs. Imogene Lord of Waterville. Mr. Farnum bore his sickness patiently. He had many friends.

The funeral was held Monday afternoon, Rev. L. A. Edwards of Bethel officiated. Four of his grandsons were bearers, Carroll, Gordon and Homer Farnum, and Perley Dudley. There were many relatives from away. The floral tributes were beautiful.

This community was shocked by the sudden death of Guy Duval Hemmingway on Monday afternoon, at the Community Hospital at Rumford. He was taken sick about noon, Monday, and rushed to the hospital, where an operation was performed for gall stones and he never came out of the ether, as he had high blood pressure and heart trouble. Mr. Hemmingway was twice married, his first wife was Mrs. Mabel Adams and after her death, he married, Miss Lottie Bryant, who survives. He is survived by three sisters, Mrs. Edna Abbott of Bryant Pond, Mrs. Maude Herrick of South Paris, and Mrs. Ida Whitman of Norway. He also has three brothers, Leo and Cleveland, of Norway, and John, of Bryant Pond. He also has several nephews and nieces. He was fifty years old. He was a member of Masons, K. of P., and Odd Fellows. He was employed by H. Alton Bacon as carpenter and plumber. Mr. Hemmingway was a kind friend and neighbor to all and will be greatly missed.

Views on Government

By R. L. Cummings

The intentions and course of proceedings of our government can easily be determined by examining a few events of the past and present that are familiar to many and can be easily verified by any that care to investigate.

During the war our government allowed enormous increases in prices and profits to our great organizations and tremendous graft profiteering and corruption was allowed to pass unnoticed. We may take as an illustration the item of steel rails. Rails that cost $16.80 per ton had sold here for $24.00 and in foreign countries for $22.00 per ton. The cost during the war increased to $18 or to $19 per ton and our government placed the limit of increase in price (net profit) to $35.00 per ton. They went the full increase at one jump, and Mr. Schwab when asked in that inquiry (that was stopped by Mr. Dawes with his famous underslung pipe and his Hell and Mariah speech) why they made the full advance at once, replied, "Because it was good business."

At the time that these unreasonable profits were sanctioned by our government, Mr. Hoover, then at least nominally a Democrat and serving under a Democratic administration restricted the prices of farm products. Wool could only be sold by the farmer for 75c a pound, the price of wheat was limited, and when we advanced the price of milk that we had been producing and selling for one cent a quart less than the cost of production, one-half cent a quart, our Federal authorities took us by the shoulder and prevented the advance. When it was proven that the milk was being sold for one cent a quart less than the cost of production, they said: "You must not advance the price now, but after this war is over we will assist you in getting a price that will pay the cost of production and a reasonable profit. That promise has never been fulfilled, and will not be.

Now we have the word of Ex-President Coolidge in his defense of the Hoover administration that the (our?) government has gone the limit during this great depression to assist "the key" financial institutions of our country. One would think that the $4,000,000,000 that Congress has voted with the approval of President Hoover is ample evidence of the truth of his statement. They claim this is all in the interest of the farmer and all other common men like them. Their claim is that the re-election of Hoover is the only way that this sort of government can be perpetuated, and they further claim that if that is done some of these benefits that we all are paying for will leak through to us.

This claim is made in full view of the fact that they and their adherents have had almost complete control of our financial and political affairs for more than fifteen years and men of like views associated with them (International Bankers, etc.) have dominated the balance of the world with the exception of Russia whom they have completely blacklisted except where Russia buys their goods for cash.

In addition to this this government put in billions of dollars to rehabilitate the railroads and pay their dividends from the U. S. Treasury until the Interstate rates that would yield them dividends of 5 1-2 to 6 percent. All in excess of that was, under that law to be turned over to the government. Now the government has brought suit to recapture hundreds of millions of these excess profits and they resist and say we will not pay. All this money must come from taxing people. Yes, Mr. Coolidge you told the truth when in the Saturday Evening Post you said the people have been pumped dry by taxes visible and invisible. Your arguments for the Hoover administration are as rotten as a rope of sand, and I believe the people know it and will show it on election day.

I would recommend all thinking men to read the address of George W. Norris delivered in Philadelphia on Oct. 17th, in that hotbed of boss ridden Republican politics and see how his views coincide with George Washington, Abraham Lincoln and Theodore Roosevelt.

Lincoln said, "I will stand with any man who stands right and I will part from him whenever he goes wrong."

Washington in his farewell address said, "I have already intimated to you the danger of parties in the state. Let me now take a more comprehensive view, and warn you in the most solemn manner against the baneful effects of the spirit of party generally. It exists under different shapes in all governments, more or less stifled, controlled, or repressed; but in those of the popular form it seems in its greatest rankness, and is their worst enemy."

What Theodore Roosevelt did when the machine of this same party nominated a man that had forsaken the cause of the people and was clearly defeated for the nomination by the will of the people is a matter of too recent origin to need explanation.

When a Republican voter goes to the polls and repudiates a Republican officeholder who has forsaken the cause of the people and votes for someone else he is but following the advise and example and teaching of these men and of his own conscience.

When we go to the polls in the coming election let us all be true American citizens and vote as our own conscience tells us is right.

P. S. The steel companies who have been selling to our poor oppressed railroads that they control, rails that cost about $17.00 per ton for $43.00 per ton for ten years, have now reduced the price $3.00 per ton. They are now $40.00 per ton. How generous that is, while farm products are sold for 50 to 75 percent. of the cost of production.

ESSENTIAL FOODS USUALLY CHEAP

Foods essential to health seldom cost too much because they help prevent illness and preserve the vigor and capacity for work of every member of the family.

The first need in every diet is milk, whether it costs much or little. A quart of milk daily for every child and a pint daily for every adult is the amount needed for calcium or lime. The minimum quantity of milk should never fall below one cup a day for adults and a pint for children. No combination of other foods can so easily satisfy the calcium requirement and without milk it is probable that there will not be enough calcium in the diet.

Whole-grain cereals and bread should be included in abundance in the low cost diet. Potatoes are both high in food value and low in cost, as well as being generally liked, and are a valuable addition to the low cost diet. They should be served at least once a day.

Among certain fruits and vegetables, whose cost is not prohibitive, a choice is possible. Prunes, apples, bananas, cabbage, carrots and onions are cheap and high in food value; any other vegetables may be added advantageously when they are home grown.

One of the first rules for the low-cost diet is that when two foods not actually essential cost the same, but have different food values, the more nourishing of the two should be chosen. Thus, if whole grain cereals take the place of refined cereals, and brown sugar is used instead of white, valuable nutrients are added to the diet without increasing its cost.

Heard and Seen at Advertiser Office

On Saturday, October 29, a "Big Bargain Sale" will be held at Harrison at the Estes store, formerly the Chapman store. A variety of wearing apparel, groceries, and hardware will be on sale. See ad in another column.

F. B. Mitchell, sage of Alton, N. H., and F. W. Sanborn of this paper have been on an "old-age" frolic, burning gasoline, the past week. It is difficult to decide which was the greater man in the days of their early activities!

Cliff Billington's Rhythm Kings are on the stage at Auburn Theatre, Auburn, this Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week. They were featured last summer at the Pirates Den at Norway. See ad.

Warden James Walker reports arresting Hobart Holden of Hartsdale, N. Y., this week and took him before Recorder Shorey in the North Cumberland Municipal Court at Bridgton. The charge was carrying a loaded riue in his automobile on the Jugtown road so called in Otisfield. Respondent pleaded guilty and settled a fine of $5 plus costs of court amounting to $8.35.

Anna Berry of Water Street called in, Tuesday, and brought a number of wild strawberry plants in bloom, which she found while gathering apples on Upton Ridge. Small, green berries were beginning to show on the plants. She was planning to put the plants in dirt and hoped, by careful attention, that the plants would bear during the winter.

Will Hall, Main Street, on October 24, brought a generous specimen of late lettuce to the office. The family have been enjoying lettuce from their garden for the past two weeks. The crop did not come from a late planting, but from the crop which was planted in the spring, matured, went to seed, and thus produced a second crop.

Postmaster Philip Stone calls attention to the growing practice of using rural mail boxes for circulars, papers and various objects not sent through the post office. The department rules this is a violation of the regulations governing rural boxes and offenses must be reported to the postmaster. Probably there are good reasons for capping a lid on this practice.

Listen to the echoes from Potato Hill, Kansas, via: Don Seitz of New York. —E. W. Howe writes:

"Dear Mr. Seitz: It has been one of my regrets we have never met, but I have always thought a lot of you. Therefore I enjoyed your letter of October 11th, and hope you will write me again in an equally pleasant vein. Mr. Sanborn once invited me to visit Norway and I regret now that I did not accept. I should particularly like to visit Howe's Hill, and visit the numerous Howes, who live there and get their names so frequently in the Advertiser. I sometimes think that the personal column in the Atchison Globe, and which I could do nothing with in the way of regulation, drove me out of the newspaper business. Your statement that you began setting type so early that you were compelled to stand on a box makes us kin: I did the same thing when about eleven years old. Within two months I was compelled to set two columns a day or get a whipping at night."

A live, local gossip column in a small town paper will drive its manager into seclusion or an asylum, after he is past sixty. Sure thing!

Luther G. Morse sent a collection of old coins to the office for inspection and many old dates have been found. Copper pieces are in the majority, especially the U. S. Liberty Cents of 1802, 1815, 1819, 1820, 1836, 1837, 1840, besides a number badly worn and dates not readable. There are two cent pieces of 1864-1865; three cent silver; numerous Indian cents; army and navy tokens and a few other U. S. coins. Canada is represented with a variety of copper and silver money, including a One Penny Token of Nova Scotia, 1832, and half-penny of Upper Bank of Canada 1857, also a penny token of the Quebec Bank, 1852. There are Spanish pieces and a coin from China, probably other countries are represented. Pocket pieces are not a recent fad for a copper coin in the collection dated 1837 advertised William Simes & Co., dealers in groceries, Portsmouth, N. H., and Nathl'n March, Stationer, also of Portsmouth, N. H. Not one word to indicate the pieces were used as money or a medium of trade.

Of local interest are two silver pieces, probably Spanish, were found when the Elms House was demolished. One about the size of a dime was under the ballroom floor and inscribed Carilus III 1775, one other the shape of a quarter is dated 1782. A piece much like the U. S. "eartwheel" dollar has the name and features of Carilus IV 1803 and was carried by Luther's father for many years.

A LETTER

To the Editor. Dear Sir: I have just been reading your article, "Think Twice, Young People," which seems to be a criticism of Socialism. As a member of the Socialist party in Maine, I wish to take exception to some of your inferences concerning the nature of American Socialism. You insinuate that Socialism means bureaucracy, paternalism, inefficiency and carelessness. You also imply regimentation of personality and loss of individual freedom under a Socialist government.

Please stop and think a moment! We already have this state of affairs under our Capitalistic Government. Socialists are individualists. We want less government, not more. All we ask of a government is to keep the other fellow's hands out of our pockets.

We believe everyone has a right to what they have produced by their own labor. We object to being robbed of the largest part of this by modern capitalistic means, such as rent, interest, profit, dividends, royalties, taxes, tariffs, inflation, stock watering, etc.

Take this parasitic load off the backs of the American people and give true individualism a chance and worthy young people (and older people also) will not have to worry about finding a job or a chance to use their ability or talent.

Yours for the cooperative commonwealth, Edwin A. Gammon, South Paris, member of the State Executive Committee Socialist Party of Maine.

Freeland Howe says: "Relative to the article "Think Twice, Young People" on page 2 of your issue of October 21, I beg to call your attention to an excerpt from a book by Prof. John Dewey of Columbia College (Individualism; Old and New) as quoted in the weekly magazine The World Tomorrow. The article follows:

"I once heard a distinguished lawyer say that the earlier American ideas about individual initiative and enterprse could be recovered by an amendment of a few lines to the federal Constitution. The amendment would prohibit all joint stock enterprises and permit only individual liability to have legal status. He was, I think, the only unadulterated Jeffersonian Democrat I have ever met. He was also logical. He did not delude himself into supposing that the pioneer gospel of personal initiative, enterprise, energy and reward could be maintained in an era of aggravated corporate capital, of mass production and distribution, of impersonal ownership and of ownership divorced from management.....

"In a society so rapidly becoming corporate, there is need of associated thought to take account of the realities of the situation and to frame policies in the social interest. Only then can organized action in behalf of the social interest be made a reality. We are in for some kind of socialism, call it by whatever name we please, and no matter what it will be called when it is realized. Economic determinism is now a fact, not a theory. But there is a difference and a choice between a blind, chaotic and unplanned determinism, issuing from business conducted for pecuniary profit, and the determinism of a socially planned and ordered development. It is the difference and the choice between a socialism that is public and one that is capitalistic—From Individualism: Old and New."

A WILD ROSE

The rose that I remember
It not some city rose,
You buy all through the winter
From florists, I suppose.

My rose was just a wild one,
That grew among the trees,
A sweet, and undefiled one,
And sweeter than all these.

It grew among the grasses,
The sweet, wild rose I knew,
I wonder where the lass is
I used to bring it to.

I met her in the May time,
November came, the gray time,
Goodbye, and that was all.

For youth must up and wander,
Not even maids can hold
It's many miles back yonder,
And my heart is sad and cold.

Your roses in December
Are pretty, I suppose,
But the rose that I remember
Is a wild, wild rose.

State House News

Augusta, Maine

With Democrats and Republicans playing a game of political chess in the Senate chamber to determine which party actually won at the polls in the recent election, the State House fairly seeths with rumors and gossip. Not within the memory of the oldest State House employee has there been a time of such uncertainty and indecision. No one knows what is going to happen after January 1 and everybody has a theory which he is quite willing to air at the slightest provocation.

The Senate chamber looks like a warehouse with great piles of ballot boxes stacked up throughout the room and waste paper ankle deep in some parts of the high-ceilinged hall. The corridors are thronged with job-seekers of both parties while the seven Executive Councillors (at $20 a day) are manfully struggling to bring order out of chaos and recount the votes cast in the September election.

Of course interest centers in the contests between Ralph O. Brewster and John G. Utterback for election to Congress from the Third District and between Louis J. Brann and Burleigh Martin for election to the Governor's seat. On the face of the returns, Utterback and Brann, both Democrats, were elected.

So far the recount has shown nothing startling but fireworks are promised by both parties.

A member of the Legislature, who has requested that his name be kept out of any discussion of the election, was outspoken to your correspondent one day last week. He asserted that the Executive Council is not only wasting its time, but is "sticking its nose" into something which does not concern it.

"The Council should use an adding machine to determine who won the election on the face of the returns," he said. "It should then certify that the winners are so-and-so. That's all it can do, anyway. The final decision as to who shall be Governor rests with the Legislature. The final decision as to who shall represent the Third Congressional District in Congress rests with Congress.

"What good is this Council recount anyway?" It proves nothing. If the Council's unofficial recount should disclose that Mr. Martin won over Mr. Brann do you think Brann would let it go at that? He would demand a Legislative recount and the whole thing would have to be done all over again.

"If the Council sends Mr. Brewster to Washington, do you think a Democratic Congress is going to let him in without a struggle? Of course not. A Congressional committee will investigate and probably order another recount. Mr. Utterback certainly won't quit. And Congress is the final judge of who shall sit in its halls.

"As I see it, this Council recount is going to cost the State of Maine thousands of dollars and prove nothing."

Councilmen, on the other hand, contend that under the law they are obliged to recount votes if asked to do so. In all probability the Council will spend several weeks in the St. John Valley in Aroostook County investigating claims of irregularities and fraud made by Mr. Brewster. They probably will hold a sort of court in every little hamlet and town where allegations of unfair tactics have been made and in effect hold the election all over again in each town.

While the uncertainty as to the identity of the man who shall sit in the Governor's chair still exists the heads of departments are struggling with next year's budgetary requirements.

No matter which party is in power, the machinery of State government must go on and indications point to a year of rigid economy ahead. Governor Gardiner has said there will be a deficit of nearly $1,500,000 at the end of this fiscal year. That figure is based entirely upon estimates of revenue shrinkage and it may be higher.

Department heads have been told they must cut to the bone. Even then their estimates may have to be shaded in order that the State may balance its budget.

Many a department head is burning midnight oil these days as he casts about for some method of slashing and pruning without affecting the efficiency of his department.

It is generally agreed, too, that the incoming Legislature will take some healthy wallops at appropriations and everything possible is being done to anticipate that. Probably State salaries will be cut and certain departmental functions abolished altogether. These are parlous times under the State House dome and prospects for a hectic year ahead are certainly good.

For Summer's going—swiftly going,
Dancing off on lithesome feet;
And the winds are softly blowing
Farewell music, sadly sweet.

Leaves are falling—slowly falling,
Whirling gaily, flattering down,
Answering freedom's urgent calling
In their colors, red and brown.

Flowers are fading—bleakly fading,
Drooping, withering on their stems,
All their lovely petals shading
Where the dew once shone as gems.

Trees are whispering—softly whispering,
As their branches bend and sway;
"Summer's going," they are moaning,
Summer's going far away."

Lovely summer, soon a memory
Close enshrined within our hearts,
Fain we'd always keep your fragrance,
Sad are we when you depart.

Let's hope as the cold winter comes, we will hear your jokes from far and near, each one try their best to make this winter one of the best to be remembered with joy, as old depression departs.

Yours as ever,—Miss Curiosity.

First Settlers of Otisfield

Coming to Town of the First Fourteen Families—Many of Names Still Remain in Town

George Pierce was born in Watertown, February 13, 1735, he came to Otisfield in July, 1775, under a contract entered into with the proprietors of the town in Boston, Feb., 1774, to build a saw mill and grist mill for which he was to receive 1b80 in money and a deed of the "mill lot" (No. 65) and the use of the proprietor's best ten years. The boat referred to in the contract was no doubt the one used on Lake Sebago for passengers and merchandise by way of the Lake and Songo river, to their new settlement at what is now Naples, but then Otisfield.

He settled near Edes Falls. Benjamin Patch was born in "Concord," Mar. 7, 1744. He came to Mr. Pierce's, May 17, 1776. He married a daughter of Mr. Pierce and settled on (lot 92) where Mrs. Mabel Wilbur now lives.

Dr. David Ray was born September 7, 1742. He also built a log cabin for his family to live in, near where Carl Walo's house now is. He also built on his house a schoolhouse, which was the first one in that section and he hired the teacher for his own children. The district has always been called Rayville.

WHAT IS THE ANSWER?

A few reasons why government should keep out of business:

1. Because government in business opens the flood gates of public expenditures at the taxpayers' expense; many of the expenditures being for special services to a limited number of persons from which services the general taxpayer. who must pay for them, can derive no benefit.

2. It creates new classes of political agencies and gives them unlimited power to incur debts, levy taxes and spend public money.

3. It discourages industry and prevents the investments of private capital in new enterprises because a private citizen cannot compete with tax-free, government-owned projects.

4. It invites the worst kind of political gerrymanding for promotional schemes at public expense.

5. Each time the government goes into business, it removes taxable property from the tax rolls and loads the taxes thus lost onto the remaining taxable property, plus additional taxes for new governmental ventures into the field of industry.

The question of the government in business in competition with its private citizens should be considered from the standpoint of the principle involved, rather than from the interest of any particular line of business. The business itself is incidental to the principle. If we subscribe to the theory that public ownership is good for any business, even in a small degree, we should be honest enough to go all the way and sanction complete public ownership and control of the mean of production and distribution. We should not single out one line of business to stand the brunt of such unfair and killing competition.

Government competition might better apply to the local meat market, grocery store, or clothing store, than to ocean shipping, insurance, public utilities, railroads and banking, for it is much more important that the average family get the first three items at cost than it is that they get the latter items at cost.

CHURCH ATTENDANCE

What better way to express our thanksgiving for life than by coming on Sunday to the House of God?

There is another angle to church attendance. You may not know it, but when you go to church you are casting a vote for the church and its work in the world. It is a stern fact to face, that if no one were to attend the services of the church, if everyone followed the stay-at-home policy of some of our people, the church on his corner would not exist a month. Therefore, when you come to church, you are keeping alive the church's influence.

Still another angle. What about the effect upon the individual of deserting the church which ties one up to world responsibility and opportunities? Does not our soul tend to shrink up and blow away when we snap the bonds which connect it with its larger self. After some years of watching people withdraw into isolated shells of selfishness, I am certain that giving up regular church attendance is perilous. Something fine and noble is lost.

Then, of course, there is the effect upon the minister of attending church. It is the least of all reasons, but it is truth; the support of church members on Sunday mornings gives your minister the inspiring realization that he is not alone, but surrounded by a cloud of witnesses.

It is to be hoped, of course, that the minister may say something worth thinking about and the choir may render beautiful music—but above all this, there remains the fact that you were in church and thereby registered your interest in the cause of the Kingdom. The minister may stammer, the choir may lose its key, but no one can take from you the reward which comes in knowing that you used Sunday as it should be used in worshipping God and serving man through the church of Jesus Christ.

IT MUST BE HALLOWE'EN

When little girls and boys will talk
'Bout ghosts and goblins in the night;
And Jack-o'-lanterns they will make
With mouths so large, they look afright,
It must be Hallowe'en.

If youths and maidens plan to go
To times that come but once a year;
Just dress like elves and fairies fair,
So, little tots will laugh and cheer,
It must be Hallowe'en.

If, then, the old folks talk of times
They used to have when they were young,
To go to parties half the time—
Would play and fiddle while they sung,
It must be Hallowe'en.

Now, when the young folks talk of scares,
Of frights that make their hair stand up,
Go whistlin' for the ghosts and elves,
As if all else took unawares
It must be Hallowe'en.

—FARMER JOE.

Repentent Mitchell's Philosophy

Votes for Moses of New Hampshire, but Not for Hoover

"I have your letter and thanks. Your giving me the top lines was gratifying to my vanity. I seem to have a fondness for such notice, just as I find a happiness when some one across the road calls out, 'Hello, Mitch!' It is a little taste of hell when a man is unnoticed; that is, a man of my kind.

"A letter from a highly intelligent friend in New York City contained these words, 'It's a tough job to keep smiling' His sweetheart-wife has been a helpless invalid for twenty years. It is easy for me to understand the meaning of the words he wrote. But I am glad there is a law of compensation and that he who is capable of great mental suffering has also the capacity for much happiness. A moment of bliss can compensate for a year of agony. The toad under the cabbage leaf knows neither pleasure nor pain.

"I have rented my home and am now lodging with my daughter at The House on the Hill. Please hunt for me when you come this way.

"I hope that Senator Moses will be reelected. I like his Americanism, although I think he erred when he made certain remarks about Franklin D. Roosevelt. Roosevelt has had quite an extensive contact with national affairs and is, in my opinion, well qualified to fill the Presidential office. I voted for Hoover once against protest—the protest of my better judgment; but I cannot do so again. Alfred Smith was the better man. I was convinced of it and am ashamed that I voted as I did. I have been appalled at the extravagant methods of Mr. Hoover, at his solicitude for England and his apparent unconcern for the needs of our working class. I have no faith in him, doubt his loyalty to America, do not believe anything he says. I am either very wrong in my conclusions or he is a dangerous man to occupy the position he now holds. Personally I would be glad if he would return to England, be knighted, and remain there.

"This is a wonderful country. It is a fruitful land and there is enuf for every man, woman and child in it. The mass has been at fault, too. There has been too much extravaganee, too great desire for pleasure; but we have had no leader and the people as a whole have become reckless. The folly of our people during and since the World War has been without parallel in history. Can we ever return to sanity? It's a question that I can not answer. I hope so, however."

THE MODERN BLACKSMITH

Under a spreading chestnut tree
The village blacksmith stands;
A very prosperous man is he,
With gear grease on his hands.

Week in, week out, from morn till night,
You can hear an engine run,
Or hear him whistle while at work
To make an old car run.

His brow is wet with honest sweat,
He earns whate'er he can,
He looks the whole world in the face,
For he owes not any man.

'Tis fun to watch him as he works
And children love to roam
Inside his door, at close of day,
When upon their way home.

He goes on Sunday for a ride
And gets a lot of joy
From picnic lunches made at home
And eaten with his boys.

We dearly love this worthy man
For the lesson he has taught,
For every ounce of labor spent
A pound of joy is bought.

Beating The Boss

By C. F. Whitman

Chapter XIII

CONCLUSION

Jedediah Baxter, formerly Boss at Conniston Falls, now only a little boss of a very small and uncertain following, found the situation of affairs very uncomfortable for him. Many people who were accustomed in the days of his prominence to touch their hats upon meeting him and greet him with a smile and obsequious language as to his health and call him Mr. Baxter, now passed him by with a cold nod of recognition and alluded to him in conversation with others as old Baxter. And the men he had closely associated with, upon getting into his presence, simply recognized him, without entering into any particular conversation with him. Caleb Gray, the lawyer, and Billy Tipstaff, the officer, were the only ones who had stood by him through all of his upsettings, but now that he was completely floored and hadn't even a footing to stand on, so to speak, and even they naturally treacherous and unfaithful, had begun to show like rats, that they were ready to abandon a sinking ship. Baxter, though brave enough, was no simpleton and took it all in, the upshot of all which was that he made up his mind that Conniston Falls was no place for him, so he sold out his real estate holdings and the greater part of personal effects and went to New York city, where he lived for several years, but having got into a quarrel with some ward heelers, was shot and killed. Those being prosecuted, set up a plea of justifiable homicide and were able before a packed jury to obtain a verdict of acquittal.

Mr. John Manners as the Conniston Falls representative in the legislature, procured the passage of an act which was signed by the Governor, incorporating Conniston Falls as a city with a mayor as its executive and five councillors. And it here may be said that Mr. Manners was elected its first mayor with Justice Winthrop, Harry Brandon, Jere Carter, Robert Evans and Charles Davenport as councilors. Mark Harris was selected as city clerk and George Atwood, treasurer. These officers served for many years and being generously sustained by the voters, they made Conniston Falls the model city of the Connecticut Valley. It came to be particularly distinguished for its beauty, its efficient management, it's splendid educational advantages, the fine moral tone and thrift of its people, and its freedom from graft and its low tax rate, so that from a sleepy old town, it had grown into a city, and very desirable as a place in which to live.

The great event in social circles of the following year, which was noted for the brilliancy of the costumes of the brides and the elegance of the grooms' attire, and the ball that wound up the festivities, were the marriages of Barbara Canning and Harry Brandon; Bertha Cushing and Dr. Mark Harris; and Belle Thompson and Robert Evans. The bridesmaids were Susan Winthrop, Janet Carter and Margaret Holmes. The groomesmen were Charley Davenport, Ben Cushing and Geo. Little. The marriage ceremonies were performed in his church by the Rev. Parker Emerson and the ball in Brandon Hall. Both places were tastefully and elaborately decorated for the occasion. Jere Carter was the master of ceremonies. Dressed in a swallow tail coat which he had never worn before in all his life, a starched shirt with high collar, white vest, pants to match the coat, alligator shoes with silver buckles, Carter felt that at last he had really got into the best society of Conniston Falls, and his family was now in the swim. The happy couples went on a trip to Europe, which was then the custom and extended it to encircle the globe. It was a gay party and the journey was the event of their lives. But the very best thing, however, was that for all of them, in their married lives, they were happy ever after.

In due time, George Little took to wife, Miss Janet Carter. Both were content that the "bigger bugs" in the city couldn't get up any kind of a social performance without their assistance. And such are always needed in whatever community they may reside.

The pious parson, Rev. Mr. Emerson, soon took as his helpmeet, Miss Josephine Manners, who was as pure and good as himself. No better work was ever done in any parish, than by these unselfish souls. She took him away from Deacon Holmes' and into the Manners family. They afterwards had a boy and a girl, named for their father and mother—who became the idols of the grandparents. It was a noted family in the Connecticut valley.

In time Deacon Holmes and his good wife, Martha, were blessed by receiving into their family Ben Cushing as the husband of their daughter, Margaret. The smart, young man fell into the ways of the deacon so well that when he was too old to perform the duties of his office in the church, that his son-in-law was found worthy to take his place. This was the crowning joy of the worthy old official's heart.

One of the proudest moments in the lives of Justice Samuel Winthrop and his wife was the marriage of their daughter, Susan, to that splendid and able young westener, Charley Davenport, who had done more than his part in making Conniston Falls the fine city it was.

And lastly what of Caleb Gray? With the Baxter prop removed, his influence in the community waned and soon went down to nil, and when he passed away, there were none so poor as to do him reverence and thus it is and should be with those who are tricky and untrustworthy.

The People On Trial

On Nov. 8 next the American people go on trial.

Four year ago they elected the present incumbent of the White House by a landslide. He met their ideals of what a President should be. No living man had done more for humanity than he. No fair-minded person questioned his ranking as a humanitarian or doubted his qualifications for the office to which he was elected.

He is the same man now that he was then. He has added to his record four years of unremitting attention to the duties of his office. It has been his misfortune to encounter the most widespread and devastating depression the world has ever seen. He is no more to blame for it than the captain who takes his bark for a transatlantic voyage and meets a terrific hurricane in mid-ocean.

The roots of this depression and its immediate cause are to be found in human nature itself. It began with the Prussian junkers who tried to grab all the territory in sight, and ended with the ubiquitous speculators who tried to grab all the money in sight and the grafting politicians and spendthrifts who tried to blow all the money in sight. As a result most of us are now wearing linen dusters in the winter time.

The eyes of the world are turned to America to lead us out of this Slough of Despond. As goes America so goes the world. It would be no light thing to have in the White House a man who is not sound in principle or unwavering in purpose.

The world is striving for a revival of business. Confidence is a necessary prerequisite. The business of the world is done on credit, and what is credit but confidence?

Believe it or not, like it or not, the business and financial interests of the country lack confidence in a Democratic administration. The day after the Maine election the stock of the National City Bank of New York dropped ten points. The rest of the market declined in proportion. Whatever else it may be, the stock market is a nerve center of business, a barometer of financial sentiment.

The ones who have got to get us out of this jam are the business and financial executives of the country, and they have a sustaining hand. Believe it or not, the fact remains that if they are not going to be allowed to make money, they are going to make any money. If their purchasing power is not going to be maintained those who today have no purchasing power are not going to acquire any. The wheels of business have got to operate in the black, for they cannot continue to operate indefinitely in the red.

The present uplift in security and commodity prices and business indices has resulted from the financial and economic measures initiated and completed by the present administration. They open the door to hope and point the way to the future. Yet there is a widespread undercurrent of unrest whose whimsies are crystalized in two catch phrases:

1. "Oh, things can't be any worse; let's have a change."

2. "Oh, everything will be all right just as soon as we get a different President."

They come from those who have not yet felt any improvement in their own affairs and lack the vision to see that it is to come from. Tranquil times and the result is likely to be an overconfidence that may have unfortunate consequences.

Things can't be any worse? Can they not? Let's see.

There are a number of railroads trembling on the brink of bankruptcy. They have been saved from it by the policies of the present administration. Let them go over the edge and the loss to investors will decrease purchasing power by just that much.

During the year there have been over a thousand bank failures in the country. They have now been stopped by the measures of the present administration. Let them break out afresh and the credit of the country is undermined, and there is so much more purchasing power gone. A recurrence of hoarding due to lack of confidence might start it.

When Congress was in session the American dollar sold at a discount. It was due to lack of confidence in the opposition and ability of an unruly Congress to meet the economic needs of the moment. The situation was saved by President Hoover when he went before them with a special message which brought about immediate measures to balance the budget.

Let confidence be withdrawn again, let the flight from the dollar be resumed, let the recent rise in security and commodity prices be cancelled, let the resultant contraction of credit and purchasing power force a shutdown of factories which have now been reopened, and what are those who now think that things can't be any worse going to say?

The times call, as never before, for intelligent thinking on the part of the American voter. He, and not the President, is on trial. The voters of Wisconsin, as the result of bitter experience, have finally met the test. Let the voters of America do likewise.—From the Boston Herald.

Members of the company have a strong hold in this vicinity and since their opening performances here, about two years ago, seldom have failed to attract a full hall.

The teachers attending State Convention at Bangor are: Mr. and Mrs. Henry Small, Principal and Mrs. William Bailey, Supt. and Mrs. Ray Robinson, Miss Hester M. Ordway, Miss Julia Morse, Miss Louise Bixby, Miss Leadbetter, Miss Marion Wheeler, Miss Ftema Staples and Miss Hamm.

SOUTH PARIS 37; GOULD ACADEMY 6

The Paris football eleven carried on against Gould Academy at the athletic field, Wednesday afternoon, to the tune of 37 to 6. Injuries and suspensions left Gould in a bad place, but the game went on. A drizzle was a handicap for both teams yet fast playing developed allowing Paris to cross the Academy line three times in each half. Gould carried the ball over in the third period. The visitors outweighed the locals by several pounds, but snap and clever interference in the Paris camp made up for underweight and size.

Mining feldspar is in full blast at the Victor Piirainen farm on the easterly side of Singepole Mountain with eight men employed on the work and two operating trucks to West Paris where about twenty tons are deliverey every day to the Oxford County Mining and Milling Company. This has been in operation more than a year with equipment that includes a large derrick, donkey engine and compressed air drill. The mine is a large hole drilled into a ledge, being about 40 feet deep, 30 feet wide and nearly 75 feet long. About eight feet of surface rock appears to be useless but the remainder is solid feldspar, sorted in two grades. Mica appears sparingly with a trace of dendrite and very little quartz.

At the Penobscot County Fish & Game Association's sportsman show in City Hall, Bangor, Frank brought out on the stage three English setters, Speck, Speed and Lady Fay, that not only won points, but captured the spectators. Mac's dogs made a clean get-away on pointing, and later one retrieved a live bird in the imitation forest. The bird was brought in unharmed, a feat that won loud applause. As the dogs worked under stage conditions with bright lights, a noisy crowd and imitation nature setting, their performance is more remarkable and reflects credit to the system of training.

KNOWLEDGE

A group of city boys were visiting my farm last summer and enjoying the wonders of country life as only city boys can.

At the edge of a clump of trees near my boundary line the group stopped to admire the foliage.

"What is that?" asked one, pointing to a towering tree near the path.

"A tree!" suggested the wit of the party.

"A maple!" remarked another boy thoughtfully.

"An oak!" decided a third.

"What is it?" I asked, turning to still another boy—one who had been studying the tree thoughtfully.

"An oak-leaf maple!" he said without hesitation, and I patted him upon the shoulder approvingly.

Later I learned that he was the only boy scout in the group. I learned also that he knew a chipmunk from a red squirrel; a toadstool from a mushroom and poison ivy from Virginia creeper. He had learned to know things, and twenty years from now, if the signs are right, he will still be head and shoulders above the group of men who last summer were boys on my farm. Somehow or other, the Boy Scout program does this little thing. —An Observer.

BAND CONCERT, MILITARY BALL AND CARNIVAL

All plans are complete for the musical event of the season in Norway Opera House, Nov. 4, when the 103rd Infantry Band, under the leadership of warrent officer, Warren C. Merrill of Auburn, gives an hours concert followed by a military ball and carnival.

This is one of the very finest bands in New England, forty pieces in number, including a splendid trumpet section and is especially fortunate in having a leader of Mr Merrill's ability with many years of experience in this field of work.

This event is sponsered by the local military unit, Co. C, 103rd Infantry, commanded by Capt. Harry L. Twitchell, and in making it possible for the 103rd band to be heard here meaning a considerable outlay of time and money. But the members of Co C feel that the citizens in this community will give them their whole hearted support by their presence.

The concert starts at 8:00 p. m., sharp, and continues for one hour, followed by a ball and carnival. Excellent music is assured with an abundance of favors, noise makers and everything to make a perfect carnival.

WINDS UP FOOTBALL SEASON

The game of games at the fair grounds, Saturday afternoon, Nov. 5 at 2 o'clock will wind up the season for Norway and South Paris high schools.

Paris snatched the game on their field and Norway will strive to return the compliment during this classic encounter.

As this will be one of the most important battles for both clevens a large crowd is expected to make things lively along the side lines. It is possible Norway high band will toot and other music makers will furnish a regular carnival spirit.

Each team is confident but not bragging. Many predict that good breaks will settle the argument as the outfits appear about 50-50.

A Lincoln and Hamlin poster used in the campaign of 1860 is in the window at the James Smith Shoe Store. The curiosity was found behind another picture in the home of Hugh Fletcher, at Lynn, Mass., and was framed for safe keeping. Mr. Fletcher is the father of Mrs. Maford Mann and frequently visits his daughter here.

Children's Day was observed by the Norway Woman's Club, Tuesday, when all the scholars in the town were entertained at the high school gymnasium by Paul Clemens and his Marionettes in the presentation of Robin Hood. The younger pupils attended the first entertainment and the older ones and the members of the Woman's Club the second entertainment. Mr. Clemens explained the manipulation of the figures and answered many questions which added to the interest of seeing them perform. Supt. Edminster kindly gave the use of the gym for the afternoon, and allowed the schools to close for the two performances. Despite the heavy rain, the schools attended in full numbers and as many of them had been reading Robin Hood, they were doubly interested.
